million individuals in the world have diabetes. This increase has resulted in part from increased longevity, increased obesity and a general lack of exercise, leading to a rapid increase in the prevalence of diabetes, for example, from 7.3% in 1980 to 9.3% in 2008 (See NIH). Diabetes is associated with significant health problems, including retinopathy, neuropathy, nephropathy, stroke, cardiovascular disease, and amputations. There are more than 15.2 million people in the U.S. alone
